GEORGIA BECAME the first state to produce a 5-troy-ounce Constitutional Bicentennial medal in .999 fine silver, as well as 1-ounce silver, bronze, gold-plated bronze and pure gold.

Georgia has become the first state in the Union to introduce its own commemorative medals in support of the national celebration of the 200th anniversary of the U.S. Constitution.

It also has become the first state to introduce a 5-troy-ounce silver commemorative medal measuring 2 9/16 inches across.

Georgia's state flower, the Cherokee rose, appears on the obverse of the medal, with its two clusters of three leaves lettered LIBERTY, OPPORTUNITY, JUSTICE, EQUALITY, EDUCATION and RELIGION, ideals to which the state claims to aspire.

The medal's reverse reflects the state of Georgia as it is described by poet laureate Sidney Lanier in his "Marshes of Glynn." Here are depicted the mountains, trees and waterfalls of northern Georgia, with the mighty Chattahoochee River winding by.

The medal's designs were conceived and developed by the private Georgia Mint. Artists' renderings were done by David Mott of of Floyd College in Rome, Ga. Dies were engraved by engraver Hermke Timms. The medals are produced by Bill Lee of South/East Refining, supplier of gold and silver to the Georgia Mint, which will handle packaging and distribution for the State of Georgia Bicentennial Commission.

Silver, gold rounds honor 'Bullfrog'

A limited issue 1-ounce round has been released to commemorate the opening of the Gold Bar Mine in southern Nevada.

Columbus Industries of Reno announced the issuance of the round which features on its obverse the mine's headframe as it appeared in 1907 when it overlooked the Gold Bar townsite.

The reverse will bear a facsimile of the famous Bullfrog district map created in 1905. The frog is designed like ancient constellation maps which features the various mining camps around the district represented by points on the frog's body. Beatty, Nev., as the region's "heart."

The mine, located near the town of Rhyolite, was originally opened by Loftus & Davis for the Bullfrog-Gold Bar mining company. They sank a 500-foot shaft, opened about one mile of underground workings and by 1908 constructed a mill next to the mine. According to company officials, development money quickly ran out and no significant production ever resulted. Loftus & Davis were unable to raise more money at a time when financial panic hit the mines of Rhyolite. Only a few mines in the Bullfrog Mining District ever produced significant tonnage and today the Gold Bar mine is the only open-pit operation in production in this district, according to company officials.

The round commemorates the reopening of the historic property and is available in both gold and silver. The first 15 rounds were struck on special 2-ounce .999 fine gold planchets created from gold actually recovered from the Gold Bar mine. An additional 1,000 .999 fine silver rounds were produced. One gold round is still available at a price of $1,500 and the silver rounds may be ordered for $25 each. Readers must include $1 per round for postage and handling (Nevada residents must add 6 percent state sales tax) and send to Columbus Industries, 325 W. Liberty St., Reno, Nev. 89501.

THE OBVERSE and reverse of the Gold Bar Mine commemorative rounds feature a Bullfrog "map" and a look at the mine in 1907.

ONTARIO NUMISMATIC ASSOCIATION 26th annual convention medal was available in gold-plate, silver or bronze at the recent event hosted by the Toronto International Coin Fair.

CITY OF WILLITS, Calif., centennial dollar medal, struck in .999 fine antique silver and bronze, depicts the highlights of the city. The reverse design incorporates the city seal.

Medal celebrates 100th anniversary of Calif. town

The town of Willits, Calif., has issued an official commemorative dollar medal (not legal tender) to mark its 100th anniversary.

Five prominent features of Willits are displayed on the dollar's obverse. The lumber industry, Mendocino County Museum, Willits Frontier Days, Skunk Train Steam Engine, and Red Hill with its huge "W" initial. The reverse design incorporates the seal of the city of Willits.

The Willits 100th anniversary dollar has been sanctioned by the city council through a proclamation issued by Willits Mayor Herb Giese, designating it as the official city centennial commemorative dollar. BOY SCOUT TOKENS AND MEDALS

Albertus Hoogeveen

Reprinted from NASC Winter 1987

Though the first Boy Scout in the United States appeared on the trail prior to the official 1910 incorporation of the Boy Scouts of America by William D. Boyce, a Chicago publisher, the first token did not appear until after incorporation. In 1910 the Excelsior Shoe Company of Portsmouth, Ohio issued a 33mm diameter brass token dated July 1910. On the obverse of this token appeared a Boy Scout on horseback and the legend THE ORIGINAL "BOY SCOUT" SHOE FOR BOYS. The reverse side depicted the coat of arms of the Excelsior Shoe Company and the legend MANUFACTURED BY THE EXCELSIOR SHOE CO. PORTSMOUTH, O. Another token was issued later with the same obverse design but a different reverse design. The reverse design of this second token featured various good luck charms and the words GOOD LUCK across the top. The reverse also has the legend MANUFACTURED BY THE EXCELSIOR CO. PORTSMOUTH, O. Though there are only two basic tokens issued by the Excelsior Shoe Company, there are many varieties. The variations include singular and plural Boy Scout, variations in quote marks, number of stars and reins on the horse, CO. and Co., as well as the length of the date. On the third and subsequent types of this token, the reverse lettering was changed to MEMBERSHIP EMBLEM OF THE BOY SCOUTS CLUB and the words GOOD LUCK moved to the bottom. The tokens were manufactured first by the Schwaab Stamp and Seal Company, Milwaukee, Wisconsin, and then by The Whitehead and Hoag Company of Newark, New Jersey. These tokens are not scarce, since they were issued for many years.

It would seem that with such a good start, that there would be many more tokens produced from the very beginning. However, this is not the case. It was not until 1917 that the Liberty Loan Campaign uniface token featuring the Leiendecker painting of Liberty with a shield behind a kneeling Boy Scout appeared. The inscription EVERY SCOUT TO SAVE A SOLDIER appears across the top and WEAPONS FOR LIBERTY across the bottom. This token was issued by the United States Treasury Department.

In the years following, tokens of various sizes and metals, as well as plastic, have been issued by Boy Scout councils to commemorate an event or for use at summer camp as money. The twelve regions of the Boy Scouts of America were also involved in issuing tokens. Each of these tokens was issued for a single event, and therefore could not be collected as a series. There are even a few tokens that have been issued by individuals associated with Scouting. This is particularly true with the wooden nickels.

It was not until the second National Boy Scout Jamboree in 1950 that the Boy Scouts of America national office started what was to become a collectible series. It was at this National Jamboree that a 36mm diameter bronze token was issued to commemorate the event. At least one token has been issued for each of the following nine National Jamborees. At the 1964 National Jamboree, the first oxidized silver 36mm diameter token was issued in addition to the oxidized bronze token. This continued until 1981, when a 40mm round nickel token was issued for the 1981 National Jamboree. Also issued was a matching set of tokens, which were intended to be replicas of the 1950 through 1977 National Jamboree tokens and a token to represent the 1937 National Jamboree. A token was never issued by the Boy Scouts of America in 1937 for the 1937 National Jamboree. In addition to these tokens, two plastic tokens were issued for two activities at the 1977 National Jamboree. At the 11th National Boy Scout Jamboree in 1983 only a single nickel token was issued.

It should not be assumed that with these twenty six tokens that the National Jamboree token collection is complete. It is only complete in the sense of those items issued by the national office of the Boy Scouts of America. If the collector is an active collector, collecting all items related to a particular activity, then it becomes necessary to collect the additional National Jamboree items issued by councils, troops, and individuals. Some of these items are metal tokens, while others are wooden.

It should also be noted here that there are tokens issued for the 1935 National Jamboree by individuals and councils. However, what was to be the first National Jamboree was cancelled just before the opening due to an infantile paralysis epidemic in the Washington D.C. area. These tokens are generally included in a collection of National Jamboree tokens by collectors of items from this type of activity.

In addition to tokens, there are some medals that have been issued by the Boy Scouts of America national office. The first medal issued was the one commemorating the 50th anniversary of the founding of the Boy Scouts of America. This 63mm round bronze medal portrays the 50th anniversary logo on the obverse with the dates 1910 and 1960, while the reverse has a shield which bears the Scout Oath.

In 1972 the Boy Scouts of America authorized the Franklin Mint to issue a series of twelve sterling silver 39mm round medals called the SPIRIT OF SCOUTING. The twelve medals represent the twelve points of the Scout Law. The obverse of each medal bears a Norman Rockwell painting along with the particular point of the Scout Law which is represented by the painting. The reverse has the Scout logo with the wording which goes along with the particular point of the Scout Law. There were a total of 26,971 sets made.

Almost every Scout has at one time or another had one of the official Boy Scout "Do a Good Turn Daily" or Scout Oath and Law tokens in their pockets. These 32mm round tokens feature either a tenderfoot or first class emblem on the obverse with the words ON MY HONOR I WILL DO MY BEST. The reverse side has either the "Good Turn" message or the Boy Scout Oath. These tokens are made in several different finishes. This is a good place to begin a collection, because these tokens are available at the local Boy Scout distributor.
